Trevor's bail work opens after the "Mr. Philips" story mission, and it's a nice change of pace if you want something less scripted than the usual jobs. Maude Eccles sends the details by email, then leaves Trevor to do the legwork across San Andreas. Her trailer sits out in Grapeseed, at the end of a dusty track, and the first name on her list is Ralph Ostrowski. Players browsing GTA 5 Accounts may already know Trevor is the only character who can take these assignments, but the key point is simple: bring Ralph back breathing if you want the Wanted: Dead Or Alive trophy or achievement.

Where Ralph Makes His Run

Ralph is down at Davis Quartz, southeast of Sandy Shores. Walk too close and he clocks Trevor straight away. He jumps into a Landstalker SUV and heads for the quarry roads. Don't rush the encounter with heavy firepower. One careless shot can end the live-capture attempt before it really starts. Ralph is wanted for cheque fraud, workers' compensation fraud, and money laundering, though none of that changes how you should handle the chase.

Outcome Delivery reward Trophy progress

Ralph alive $10,000 Unlocked

Ralph dead $5,000 No progress

Keeping the Capture Clean

The easiest move is to take away Ralph's mobility rather than aim at Ralph himself. His SUV doesn't need much punishment before it becomes hard to control, especially on the rough quarry ground. A Stun Gun also works well if you've picked one up. Once he's stuck with no useful route out, he gives up and gets into Trevor's vehicle. It's less dramatic than a full chase, maybe, but it saves a replay and gets the better payout.

Let Ralph enter the Landstalker before trying to stop him.

Focus on the tyres and leave the driver alone.

Use the Stun Gun only when he's outside the SUV.

Drive carefully on the return trip, since the target must survive.

Back to Grapeseed

The ride to Maude has some of the better small-talk in these missions. Ralph tries to make himself sound important, talking about shell companies and being a middleman. Trevor isn't buying it. He treats Ralph like the dullest criminal he's ever met, which makes the trip worth hearing at least once. At Maude's place, hand Ralph over and collect the full $10,000. If you're looking to buy GTA 5 Modded Accounts, this early Trevor activity is still a useful reminder that patience pays more than a messy takedown. The trophy or achievement pops as soon as Maude takes custody.
